Simplicity and control that builds confidence and supports happy learners.

WHY IT MATTERS

For students

with still-developing motor skills, a mouse may be easier to use effectively than a trackpad.

Helping students work more efficiently builds their confidence and supports better engagement in learning.

Students feel more confident

when frustrations due to hard-to-use tools are removed as they may attribute the inability to work efficiently to be a reflection on them vs the technology.

Using a mouse supports students' current and long-term health

by allowing them to work in a more ergonomically friendly manner than a trackpad.³
